

LAND AND LANDSCAPE IN NINETEENTH-CENTURY IRELAND

Úna Ní Bhroiméil and Glenn Hooper, editors

Contents

Fintan Cullen Foreword	7
Úna Ní Bhroiméil and Glenn Hooper Introduction	9
Francesca Benatti Land and Landscape in the Dublin Penny Journal , 1832-3	13
Maura Cronin Claiming the landscape: popular balladry in pre-famine Ireland	25
Laura Dabundo Imagining the Irish landscape in novels by Maria Edgeworth and Sydney Owenson	40
Susan Egenolf Revolutionary landscapes: the picturesque, Salvator Rosa and The Wild Irish Girl	48
Irene Furlong The landscape for all - no penny-in-the-slot at the Giant's Causeway	63
Andrew J. Garavel SJ Land and landscape in the fiction of Somerville and Ross	78
Siobhán Jones 'The cloven foot of communism': land agitation and issues of ownership in southern Irish loyalist propaganda	93
William H. Mulligan, Jr Through a different lens: the Irish landscape as seen by mining promoters, 1835-80	106
James H. Murphy 'Old lords of the soil': The O'Donoghue (1845) by Charles Lever	121
Máirín Ní Cheallaigh Mounds of rubbish and the shades of extinct churches: perceptions of archaeological field monuments in nineteenth-century Ireland	131
Mary S. Pierse Inside and outside the frame: landscape pictures and real debates in The Untilled Field (1903) and The Lake (1905)	146
Oonagh Walsh Landscape and the Irish asylum	156
Toni Wein Wandering home: Charles Robert Maturin and the subliming of Ireland	171